Australia

9:30am
Feature Talk 1
Stop Guessing, Start Measuring
LAr. Khariza Abd Khalid / Malaysia

A case for hard data over intuition, showing how measurable NbS performance at the developer scale can de-risk investment and strengthen decision-making.

10:10am
Sharing Session 1
Scaling Nature-Based Solutions in India:
From Sponge Parks to Climate-Resilient Cities
Manushi Jain / India

An exploration of how a sponge-city model is being scaled across Indian cities to build climate resilience at the urban and high-rise level, turning water management into a tool for national-scale adaptation.

10:40am
Sharing Session 2
Nature Keeps the Score
Dr. Yazid Ninsalam / Australia

A site analysis framework that lets ecological performance, rather than assumptions, guide design decisions from the earliest stages of a project.

11:10am

Feature Talk 2

Provelt: Water & Stormwater Management

Prof. Dato' Dr Nor Azazi Zakaria / Malaysia

A session connecting research and policy to show how evidence-based frameworks can strengthen water and stormwater management systems at scale.

11:50am

Sharing Session 3

20 Years On: The Putrajaya Lake & Wetland Story

Pn. Normaliza Noordin / Malaysia

A twenty-year retrospective on the Putrajaya Lake & Wetland system, offering a landmark case study in long-term NbS performance and the lessons it holds for future projects.

12:20pm

Sharing Session 4

Designing with Nature

Chum Jia Xin / Singapore

Practice-based insights from a renowned firm on integrating ecological design principles into large-scale professional work.

1:50pm

Feature Talk 3

Hong Kong's NbS Guidelines

Paul Chan / Hong Kong

An insider look at Hong Kong's NbS guidelines, exploring how policy frameworks are shaping green-blue infrastructure practice in one of Asia's densest cities.

2:30pm

Sharing Session 5

Where the Forest Meets the Tide

Dr. Ahmad Aldrie Amir / Malaysia

An examination of the ecological dynamics where terrestrial and coastal ecosystems intersect, and what this means for species-sensitive design.

3:00pm

Sharing Session 6

Beyond Trees and Greenery

LAr. Dr. Sabarudin Buang / Malaysia

A look past the obvious benefits of trees and greenery to reveal the fuller range of ecological value that everyday landscape practice can deliver.

3:30pm

Documentary Showcase / Break

Nature Wrote the Brief

Dr. Anuj Jain / Singapore

An exploration of biomimicry that flips the conventional design process, letting natural systems rather than human intent alone define the design brief.

WANG DONG
TURENSCAPE
China

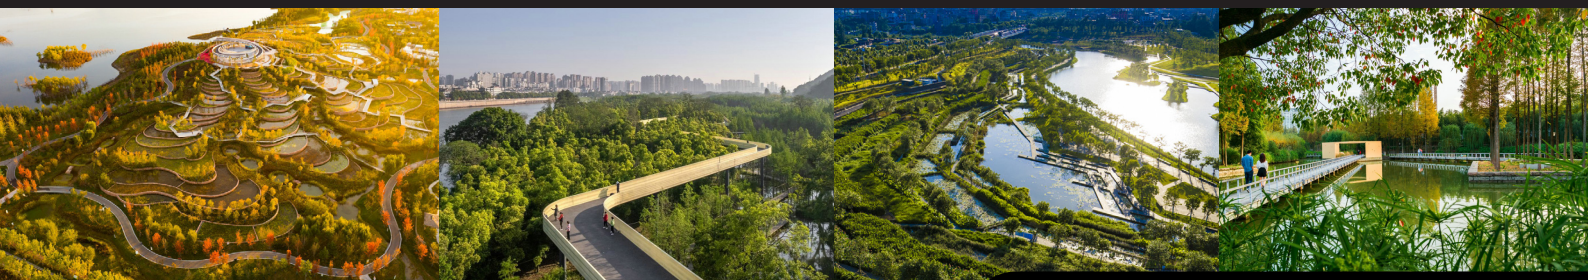

KEYNOTE ADDRESS 2

4:50pm

From Sponge City to Sponge Planet

Wang Dong / China

The evolution of China's Sponge City movement into a planetary-scale ambition, reimagining stormwater and urban water resilience as a global design imperative.

Day 1 (6 October 2026) - Tuesday

10:00am

Master Class 1

Biomimicry in Landscape Design

Dr. Anuj Jain / BioSEA, Singapore

Discover how nature's forms, systems and processes can inspire innovative, resilient and regenerative approaches to landscape design.

11:30am

Master Class 2

Climate Data Analysis for Site Design

Dr. Yazid Ninsalam / RMIT, Australia

Learn how climate data can inform site planning and support responsive, comfortable and climate-resilient design solutions.

1:00pm Lunch Break

2:00pm

Depart for Site Visit

(Ayer Panas Retention Pond & Sungai Bonus River Corridor)

Explore a river corridor and stormwater retention pond within a green space planned as a future green lung and recreational park in Kuala Lumpur. Participants will observe the site and its surroundings, gathering information to develop Nature-based Solutions during the second-day master class.

End of Day 1

Day 2 (7 October 2026) - Wednesday

10:00am

Master Class 3

River Corridor Design for Flash Flood Resilience

Wang Dong / Turenscape, China

Explore Nature-based design strategies for restoring river corridors, managing stormwater and strengthening resilience against flash floods.

12:00pm

Group Work

Participants will work collaboratively to apply the knowledge gained and develop practical Nature-based Solutions for a selected site challenge.

1:00pm Lunch Break

3:00pm

Group Presentation

Each group will present its proposed solutions, exchange ideas and receive constructive feedback from the master class experts.

6:00pm

End of Master Class
